Investment Strategy

We believe that EMs are structurally inefficient, thereby offering attractive rewards to successful active managers. Such inefficiencies are principally due to: insufficient analysis of the interplay between top-down and bottom-up factors; the under-researched nature of numerous EM companies; and behavioural biases stemming from the skewed index composition.

We also believe that powerful secular growth opportunities exist in Emerging Markets, which are often overlooked by traditional and quantitative strategies, and that the best returns are made by consistently investing in undervalued growth companies.

To exploit these inefficiencies and opportunities, we systematically apply a rigorous investment process, which aims to identify attractively valued companies in the context of their assets or earnings, verify their investment case via a variety of different sources, and identify the catalyst that will release value.

Portfolio construction is the synthesis of idea generation, conviction and risk management. The strategy will typically hold between 30 and 40 stocks. We have a disciplined approach to risk management that aims to preserve capital and control downside risk. This is reinforced by TT's independent risk management team.

We believe the following aspects of our investment process set TT apart from the competition:

Unconstrained and concentrated. The strategy will be biased towards the faster growing EMs with younger populations rather than the older, larger EMs that dominate most EM funds. It should therefore offer exposure to structural growth in rapidly developing economies. We will still own larger EM markets selectively, depending on our perception of the opportunity set at the time.

Top-down and bottom-up linkage. Our process utilises a combination of top-down and bottom-up analysis. This linkage allows top-down factors to guide the team as to where to focus their resources to find attractively valued growth stocks.

Focus on Free Cash Flow. We focus much of our analysis and engagement on Free Cash Flow to understand the potential for the company to grow, and ultimately to return capital to shareholders.

Why TT?

Founded in 1988, TT International is an alpha-driven specialist investment manager with a significant focus on Emerging Markets. We have a long and successful history of investing for sophisticated institutional clients around the world, including leading sovereign wealth funds, public pension funds and family offices. Our performance-driven, collaborative culture attracts world-class professionals, with portfolio managers and analysts investing their own assets in our products, ensuring strong alignment with clients.

We are dedicated to generating strong risk-adjusted returns. To this end, our investment strategies focus only on areas where we possess genuine competitive advantages, and where persistent market inefficiencies enable active managers to succeed. Whilst we offer a range of complementary strategies across multiple asset classes, they are unified by a common active, agile and high-conviction approach. To maximise our ability to deliver strong performance, all our strategies maintain a capacity disciplined process that allows our portfolio managers to remain nimble and access opportunities that larger peers often cannot.

TT has a well-defined DNA in EM and macro investing, with a long history of managing significant assets within EM equities across a range of strategies boasting strong track records. We have been successfully integrating top-down and bottom-up research for well over 30 years, resulting in long-term alpha generation from both top-down portfolio construction and individual security selection.
